

Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (IOSH) Managing Safely Refresher.

Duration: One day including examination.

Course overview:

The IOSH Managing Safely Refresher is designed to provide continued support to managers in dealing with health and safety issues in the workplace. Specifically, the course aims to:

- Revise key management responsibilities from the Managing Safely course.
- Update relevant changes in relevant, good practice guidance, legislation and standards.

Course content:

On successful completion of the course, delegates should be able to:

- Explain the moral, legal and financial reasons for managing health and safety and how this is an integral part of the manager's role.
- Explain how to assess risk and carry out a simple risk assessment.
- Implement practical methods to reduce or control risks, including consideration of 'reasonably practicable'.
- Explain their legal responsibilities and accountabilities with updated significant relevant changes in legislation.
- Explain the component parts of a recognised safety management system such as HSG65.
- Understand how to report accidents and the accident investigation process. Identifying immediate, underlying and root causes.
- Demonstrate practical methods to measure performance in health and safety.
- Understand the importance of measuring performance for improving health and safety and the limitations of reactive and pro-active measuring.
- Explain the purpose and setting up of audits both internally and externally.

The new certificate is valid for 3 years from the date that the Refresher course was attended.
